"This scenario pack is intended to provide a group of players with a starting place for a campaign using AFTERMATH! This scenario package consists of a map of Littleton, an average American city, updated to the current status of the city, and several detailed descriptions and maps of various areas in and around the city. Some areas are not detailed because they are left for the Gamemaster. He may flesh them out as he desires to fit the city into his campaign structure. Each subsection of the scenario package is dealt with separately and a Gamemaster may utilize what he wishes from each. The diversity is intended to present a sampling of possible adventures in an AFTERMATH! World." FGU 4001
