This poetry book is dedicated to anyone who has gone through the storm and kept their umbrellas up, socks dry and hair from getting wet the whole storm through. From the Left to the Write is a two part poetry book based on love, relationships and anything possible to happen in between. From cheating, deceiving, falling head over hills to wanting to throw them over a hill! From love taking and baby making, to miscarriages, to misunderstandings, you name it, London captured it. From family, friends losing loved ones and all. There isn't a perspective that was not covered by London. The first part of the book comes from a younger, less experienced London. The second half stems more from having to overcome mountains of pain, mistakes, losses and so much more. London believes that everyone should turn their tragedies into triumphs. Love is a beautiful feeling but it's a tragedy when you're in love by yourself. Loving yourself first is one thing but loving someone who doesn't love you is a catastrophic. There are ups and downs in relationships, this we know. It's not how you handle the ups and downs; it's what we do during those times that will speak volume. Love is a powerful force alone, add misery, too it and watch what can come from it! Because of what I've gone through during failed relationships and experiences, I've gained a lot of knowledge and now have a better understanding of what love is NOT. London was able to take many situations gone wrong, live through it, to share it, write about it and here we are! "From the Left to the Write"
