Public Intellectualism & Sociopolitical Inquiry through Metaphor and Musing, Vol. 3 Dr. Kenneth K Mwenda DSc(Ec)

This book is an example of public intellectualism in the Social Sciences. The book distills complex ideas into easily discernible ideas. Such is a cardinal objective of the book – to provoke some critical thinking on topical themes pertaining to sociopolitical inquiry. This objective is pursued through the use of metaphors and musings. In many cultures, especially those that place much emphasis on oral tradition, knowledge is often handed down to the younger generation through various adages, sayings, metaphors, musings and stories told by the elders to the younger folks around the fire-place. This book attempts to draw from such a tradition, lighting the fire-place and then distilling some untapped wisdom for posterity and the readership.
