The March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom (Freedom Now Book 1) Bruce Hartford

The March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom on August 28, 1963, was the largest protest march ever held in Washington DC up to that time. Organized by a broad civil rights coalition, it drew national attention to fundamental issues of racial discrimination and economic injustice, and it played a key role in pressuring Congress to pass the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Written by a veteran of the Civil Rights Movement and a march participant, this 30-page booklet describes the origins, politics, events, and ultimate effect of the march from the point of view of those who were there. It includes a 15-page narrative of the march plus a 15-page appendix of original march documents and personal memories.
